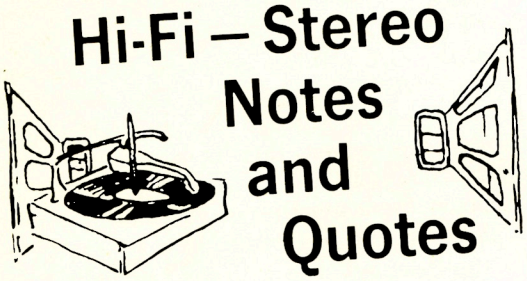
people marching. "I felt that the white community should share some of the grief felt deeply by the Negro community, because the loss of Dr. King was a community loss, the grief was not confined to a minority. I wanted to demonstrate the solidarity of the white community with the Negro. I sensed a certain unity in experiences with the marchers.

"I saw many obviously affluent Negroes looking on in apparent disdain from the sidewalks," Jaggard said. It is unfortunate that the intellectual Negro abstains from such demonstrating. I believe he does not take part because of the fear of losing his job and his approval by white society."

"I was impressed by the commandos who did a fine policing job, and by Father Groppi's overall attitude."

Hi-Fi – Stereo Notes and Quotes



There has been a new trend in the drive systems of quality tape recorders and turntables in the past year. Perhaps some of you have seen ads such as "NOW you can have reduced wow and flutter with a servo motor." The unique thing about these motors is their speed referencing system. These motors are controlled by a system of pulses, each pulse indicating a certain amount of rotation of the shaft. The pulse rate of the motor is compared to the pulse rate of a fixed oscilator. If the pulse rate is not in agreement with the reference oscilator, the servo system adjusts the motor's speed accordingly. This adjustment of speed allows the motor to turn at a constant speed even though the motor's load or the frequency of the power is changed. An additional benefit of this motor system is that the same speed accuracy can be obtained from a DC supply as can be obtained from a constant frequency supply. In the future many more, if not all, recorders and turntables will use these motors due to their versatility.

Stereophonically yours,
John Bunkfeldt

over the death of this great humanitarian and leader, but I also felt the common optimism and confidence that his spirit of love and brotherhood would live on, and that his "dream" would someday be fulfilled.

Mr. Frankowski said: "I felt a sense of uneasiness, not because I thought that particular march would turn to violence, but because my observations seemed to indicate that future demonstrations might turn to violence."

Tuesday, April 10, was declared an official day of mourning by Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier. All city employees who so desired were excused from their jobs. Crucible Steel Casting Co. closed its doors from 11 p.m. Monday to 11 p.m. Tuesday. American Motors Corp. observed a minute of silent prayer at the Milwaukee body plant and the Kenosha assembly plant and parts division. Municipal service centers were closed all day. Many downtown theaters were closed until late afternoon. The University of Wisconsin at Madison canceled all Tuesday classes. U.W.M. canceled classes Monday, but excused classes on Tuesday for those students who wished to attend services. Despite requests by some MSOE faculty members, the school remained open both days. Those faculty members who attended the march, did so with the understanding of administration permission.

Commenting on Dr. King's death, MSOE President Karl O. Werwath said: "The whole nation is grieved by the loss of a dedicated clergyman. Each American in his own way pays tribute to the courage and accomplishments of the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr.

"As persons, members of the administration, the faculty, and the student body of the School, are free to express their homage, each in his own way, at the appropriate services.

"Those who are affiliated with the Milwaukee School of Engineering in any capacity who wished to participate in particular events did so with full cooperation of their peers."

Read the MACE This Summer forms for free subscriptions at various student lounges.

stressed on the program, a good the faculty have been asked to simulated questions to prepare ou Even President Werwath has dec help pitch in as he will be prepari tions under the topic of mythology.

Kennedy from page 1

*He would overhaul welfare p
"Welfare," he said, "is not subst a job."

*He favors including both North and the National Liberation Front tiations over the war, and would three-way coalition after the war;

*He does not think unilateral wi is the answer to ending the war, b immediate negotiations.

Kennedy was apparently non-plu a questioner who asked him to ou civil rights program, but after a liminary tries, he outlined self-grams, which, he said, would dole of welfare."

He said he favors programs local residents are given job in construction projects. In this ple for whom the buildings are structed would also benefit fro ployment opportunities afforded b ject.

Kennedy became visibly ange obviously sizable McCarthy rooti only once. At the end of the ques a student asked Kennedy what of President Johnson's backing McCarthy might be, if that were Kennedy said he believed government was possible in Sou but not in the United States.

Hecklers asked the Senato differed from Minnesota's Mc which Kennedy brought his appe close with a statement that he, had a contribution to make to States.

This last statement brough crowd to its feet cheering. K the Palestra surrounded by a mo thousand people who had torn and other members of the audie closer look at the Senator.